Freeman-Frost Wedding.

Alwedding which was quite striking in its principal features was celebrated with no little pomp and circumstance, New Year's Eve, Tuesday, Dec. 31, in Pleasant street Cong. church, Arlington. The contracting parties and their families are prominently identified with the First Baptist church of Arlington, but in the absence of a church home at present, the church alluded to was used and success fully adapted to one of the most brilliant society functions which has interested Arlington people for a long time. The bride was Miss Sophia Wood, only daughter of the late George T. Freeman and of Mrs. Annie Wood Freeman, of Arlington; her flance, Mr. Harold Locke Frost only son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester C Frost, of Behuont. Both families are too well known to need further introduction.

The ceremony was solemnized at halfafter seven by the Rev. C. H. Watson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, before a throng of guests filling the church, who were attired to do honor to the occasion and give it that eclat which a select Arlington audience always affords. The bridal cortege made a beautiful spectacle and, like a recent wedding, departed from conventional forms in its conduction. It entered the church from the vestry door at the front of the church on the right, and proceeded down the north aisle to meet the bride on her entrance to the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Warren Freeman, who gave ager, treasurer and director. her away, and escorted them up the centre aisle, where they were received by Dr. Watson and Mr. Frost, attended by his best man, Mr. Henry C. Learned, of New York. The order of the processional was as follows:-

Ushers, - Messrs. J. Freeman Wood and Harold Blake Wood Messrs. Wm. Thorning Wood and Ellis Gray Wood, of Arlington; Mr. friends
Frank A. Sawyer (head usher), of New York, with Prof. Fred Tobey, of Sing Sing Military Academy, N. Y.

Dr. Watson anade the ceremony impressive, using a modified Episcopal form and the double ring service, which was most effective. The distinguished services of Mr. Frank Donahoe, for twenty five years organist at the Boston Cathedral, were secured through the offices of the bride's uncle, rendering the wedcortege left the church in reverse order much doing at the club just at present. of entering, excepting that the children, who were charming atoms of childish grace, dressed in white organdie frocks and suits of white piquet, preceded the bride and groom down the aisle, strewing flowers in their way. We suggested that the occasion was a rare one, in opening this article. It was given this quality from the fact that Miss Freeman was married not only on New Year's Eve, but on the twenty-fourth anniversary of the marriage of her parents. Also, her bridal cortege included six of her double cousins, all children of her unele, Mr. Wm. E. Wood, and her aunt, who is her father's sister. Among these were two sets of twins, the twin brothers acting with their other brothers as ushers, and the twin sisters being the bridesmaids. They were such an exact replica of each other, if we may be allowed the term, in face, figure and dress, that they could not be told apart, and, with their brothers, who are large, stalwart men, made indeed a striking group. The wedding was further enhanced in interest by the presence of the grandmother, Mrs. Sophia Blake Wood, who now rarely goes out, and several recent brides, including Mrs. F. A. Sawyer, Mrs. Clarence Moore, who were in elegant bridal toilettes, and Mrs. A. De B. Woodworth, who was in rose pink liberty silk, stylishly made with deep accordion flounces. Mrs. Tobey, sister of the groom, was also in her rich wedding dress, and her sister, Miss Evelyn Frost, wore a becoming white organdie, trimmed with valenciennes. Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception at the residence of the bride's mother, 200 Pleasant street, which is to be the future home of the young couple and where they will be at home on Wednesday evenings during February. The guests at the reception were limited to one hundred and twentyfive, and included only immediate relatives and intimate friends. Mrs. Freeman received with the wedded pair, her son, Mr. Warren E. Freeman, the maid of honor and the best man, in the parlor, which, like the other rooms of the house. was decorated with holly and carnation pinks. The receiving party stood in front of a bower of greenery made of towering palms and rubber trees. In referring to the decorations, the church must not escape notice, for it presented an attractive appearance in accord with the holiday season and the festive event. The choir archway in front of the audience room was filled by laurel, gracefully festooned in a design, while the platform was filled with tropical plants of several varieties, so arranged that the effect was highly artistic. Mr. Frost displayed his mond in the form of wings either side of a fleu-de-lis. The reception was delightfully informal, as it was langely an assembly of "intimates." The caterer in walked home.

This party has become historie by its annual occurrence quarter of a century or more ago when it was first inaugurated by the late H. H. Celley. They have never waned in popularity and each party as it occurs always seems the "nicest" that there ever was. Supt. Sutcliffe and his teachers, with willing helpers among the older friends of the Sunday school, made it a delightful evening for the young people, but the entertainment and other details were in charge of committees appointed for that purpose. Mrs. H. A. Martin, Miss Helen Damon and Miss Emma Turner prepared and presented the novel and really charming entertainment provided. The supper, which was bountiful and appetizing, was in charge of Miss Hodgdon, who managed this branch with all the skill of a professional caterer, of course assisted by efficient helpers taken from the ranks of the Alliance. The small children came early and had a merry time with games; then came the supper served about half-past six, for which big and little furnished generous appetites. The entertainment and distribution of books filled the evening hours. The books were distributed for constancy in attendance at Sunday school and were selected by a committee composed of Rev. Frederic Gill, Mrs. A. J. Wellington and Miss Edith A. Whittemore. They were awarded as follows :-

task of giving an idea of a sumptuous array of innumerable wedding presents. These were shown in a large chamber on the second floor on receptacles draped with white bunting. The parents of the bridegroom remembered the young couple most generously, Mr. Frost's gift representing a thousand dollars and his wife's the sum of fifty dollars. The brothers of the bride, Messrs. Warren and Ernest Freeman, gave an exquisite crystal and gilt travel-ling clock. Miss Freeman's grandmother, Mrs. Sophia B. Wood, remembered the occasion with a solid silver creamer and sugar bowl in the small after-dinner size. An elegant solid silver service, including the tea and coffee pots, were from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Wood and their daughters; Mr. Wood's sons, also Mr. Franklyn Wyman, Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Hooker and Mr. Warren Freeman (of Chicago) all relatives of the bride, furnished an expensive and complete set of beautifully designed table silver, including the various sets of spoons and forks. Tobey and Miss Evelyn Frost, (the lady sisters of the bridegroom,) were handsome oriental rugs. The Ohio friends of the bride sent tea and dessert spoons; Mr. Henry C. Learned, the best man, a large carbon photo of Velasquez's painting of Æsop; Mr. Frank A. Sawyer, head usher, a full sized oil painting in a rich frame. A school friend of the bride gave an expensive set of ladles, while another sent a beautiful Delf picture. An artistic thing was an enlongated picture of the famous Dantillo freize, also a pair of bronze candlesticks, several exquisite vases in Rockwood and other choice wares, a Lucca Della Robia relief, several paintings and metzzo-tints, a large one of one of Millet's peasant women being especially attractive, from Mr. A. H. Richardson. From Mr. Wendell E. Richardson was a bronze lamp. Mr. Frost's employees gave him an oak revolving book case. The cut glass made a brilliant display and included a water set and numerous large and small pieces. Quite a number of pieces of Bohemian glass were noted and there was a table full of hand painted chims, chief among which was an exquisite chocolate set. The Misses Locke, of Belmont, number of Mr. Frost, gave a mahogany Morris chair upholstered in leather.

Australia has an artesian well 500 feet deep.

One-third of the street cars of Paris are moved by horses.

The Hamburg-American line now has ninety-eight ocean steamers.

The prairie dog in some parts of the west is as great a nuisance as the rabbit in Australia.

The population of the Australian commonwealth, according to the latest returns, is 3,775,366.

In Europe the greatest average consumption of coffee is in Denmark and the least in Russia. Americans have increased their sales in Sydney, Australia, 100 per cent each year for seven years. Nome's population this winter is estimated at about 3,000, which is 1,500 less than last winter.

It is possible in some cases to assist the process of seasoning by dissolving the sap of wood by immersion in water. Statistics recently published show that Paris affords excellent climatic conditions for the treatment of tuberculosis. In the early machines electricity was generated by turning a large glass wheel which rubbed against a silken band or clotha The checks which pass through the

to have a residence on Deeside and have selected Craigowan, near Balmoral, which has hitherto been the residence of the king's commissioner. The telephone has been a government monopoly in France since 1899. The development outside of Paris has been slight. There are more telephones in ® New York than in the whole of France. Paris now has automobile fire engines: which measure 6, to 10 feet, weigh 21/2 tons of when fully equipped 6,380 pounds. They start to work instantly. The pump delivers twenty gallons a minute.

In 1890 the area of the national domain occupied by the Indians aggregated 116,000,000 acres. Today it aggregates 85,000,000 acres, which is about as much land as we have in the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

There seems to be no longer any doubt that Italy will within a few years turn from a sugar importing to a sugar exporting country. The past two seasons have witnessed a remarkable development of the beet sugar indus-

Dar-es-Salaam, the capital of German East Africa, which seven years ago was a village inhabited by a hundred natives, is now a town with 300 European and 21,000 native inhabitants. It has three hotels, several hundred stores and a newspaper.

It is estimated that the value of land along rural delivery routes has increased from $2 to $5 an acre. Then, too, there is an educational value in the rural free delivery in that thousands more magazines and periodicals are finding their way to people's homes.

Large quantities of dried inkbags of the cuttlefish and squid are received by artists' colormen for manufacture into sepia. It has been suggested that the Newfoundland fishermen, who annually destroy a large number of these molluscs, might make a considerable revenue by saving and selling their inkbags.

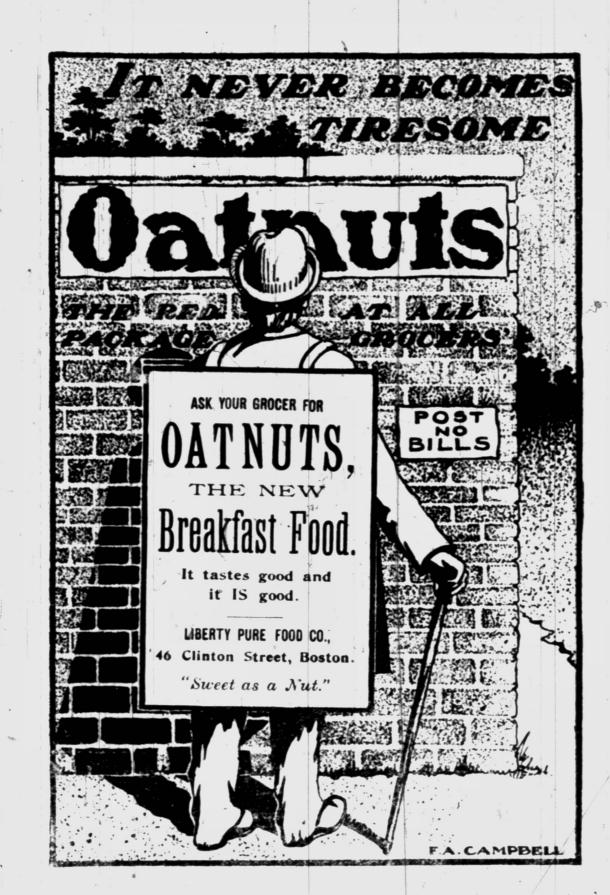

Soonerville is the name of the newest town on record. It is located sixteen miles north of Rice Lake, Wis., and the town site company owns 40,000 acres of land. No one was allowed to locate until Oct. 15, but the president of the town was elected beforehand and police appointed, who now rule the. place with an iron hand.

Another bird believed to have become extinct is the California condor, twice as large as the condor of the Andes. Its length was 5 feet, weight 25 pounds and spread of wings 12 feet. An egg of this bird is worth $2.000 to collectors, but none has been found for seventeen years. Eggs of the golden eagle sell in San Francisco for $32

During the last century the population of the territory which now constitutes the German empire has very nearly trebled, notwithstanding the enormous emigration. It has increased from 20,000,000 to nearly 60,000,000 souls, and at the present rate of increase Germany will have a population of 100,000,000 before the close of this century.

Hoboken, for its area, is the most densely populated city in the United States today. About 60,000 people are distributed within the limits of the city, which is about one mile square. The city surveyor will tell you that of the 720 acres within the limits 450 are marshland and 270 upland. There is only 196 square feet of ground for every resident.

New York city's average dally supply of water for the three boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx 1s 340,000,000 gallons, and the consumption of Queens and Richmond brings up the total to 350,000,000 gallons, a larger quantity than is used by any other city in the world and nearly as much as is used by any other two American cities.

> About Elbow Sleeves. A word here upon the effect of wearing elbow sleeves or pronounced undersleeves with a ffaring sleeve model in relation to one's height. It is impossible to do so without losing that precious height line, and no matter how much a short woman may admire the cutoff sleeve or the very wide flaring one she should not indulge herself in wearing either, but cling to sleeves which mark a long line from shoulder to wrist. If by any chance she insists upon the newer sleeve, then she must have the top fit rather closely and below the elbow have a glove fitting additional sleeve to wrist. This will suggest the long arm line. In the matter of undersleeves, have them as 'small as possible and not strikingly in contrast with the gown. By these little managements should women study their particular figures in their relation to the modishness of the day. Dressmakers in their rush of business cannot be expected to do this, nor are they much inclined to it as a general thing, as their experience proves that their clients pay no heed whatsoever to their advice, always going their sweet way in direct opposition.

The Shirt Waist Set. Quite the latest thing in fashion's whirl is the shirt waist set. The shirt waist, with hat to match, is no novelty, but the shirt waist set is comparatively new. It consists of four pieces-the hat, the stock, the belt and the umbrella. A fashionable woman of the east end wore a few days ago a gown of dark brown. It was an uneventful gown except for the "set" which went with it. This set, in tomato red, was

The Legislature convened on Wednesday, organized on Thursday by the election of officers serving last year, and the following day the State officers were inaugurated. This wa all preceded by a Republican caucus, and we are pleased to note that this feature was made permanent so far as the example of one legis-lature can bind a successor, by the choice of a caucus committee. We have believed that the responsible party should discuss all party measures, come to as near a unanimous agreement as possible, and then loyally abide by the decision of the majority. Theatrical Notes.

Boston Music Hall has scored a tremendous hit with its new scheme of entertainment Musical travesty, satire, vandeville, make a delightful combination. The stock company includes such clever people as Maude Odell, Blanche Ring, Eleanor Falk, Lillie Lawson, Jane Bernard, Mattie Boorum and others. Each is experienced either in legitimate acting or in bright specialties and the tout ensemble is decidedly brilliant and effective. "Pous Cafe" is one of the merriest, most tuneful and sprightliest musical melanges ever concocted, while the satire on "Sky Farm," entitled "Fly Farm," is deliciously funny.

That merry operatic comedy, "The Chape-ons," with its pretty music, witty lines. catchy songs, greatecast of funmakers, and immense chorus of pretty girls, in Frank N. Perley's superb company of one hundred singing comedian, has certainly caught on with music loving Boston. The Columbia Theatre reopened Monday night under Harry N. Died in East Lexington, at quarter before five o'clock, Saturday afternoon, Dec. 28, Mrs. Mary A. (Fairbanks) Brown, widew of Mr. Oliver Brown, aged 79 years, 5 months.

Mrs. Brown was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Fairbanks, of Dedham, and was born there July 23, 1822. She was married May 20, 1852, to Mr. Oliver Brown, of East Lexington, the marriage occurring at Nashville, N. H. She was the last remaining of nine children. Her funeral occurred Monday afternoon and Rev. Mr. Cochrane officiated, at her late home on Pleasant street. She has outlived nearly all her kin, the nearest being a grand-niece. She has been an invalid for more than a year and for ten weeks constantly failing, but has been tenderly cared for, and her kind neighbors and friends have also tried to smooth her pathway to the grave. She lived in Watertown at one time, but she has long been a resident of our village. She had three children, one dying in infancy and the others taken from her when they were a great help and com-fort, and the three children of her husband, by a previous marriage, were dear to her, but they were all removed by death. We have known Mrs. Brown these many years and feel anxious to give her our tribute of love. She was a most excellent wife and mother, always attending well to the ways of her household, bright and sensible, anxious to keep in touch with the times; interested in the church and all which was a benefit to the village; ever generous and ready to give the widow's mite, even though it cost a sacrifice; patient and cheerful in the hours of sickness and suffering; calm at the thought of death and making all

The committee believe that one good picture is worth a cart load and more of poor ones, and that by hanging upon the wall before the children a splendid carbon photograph of a great work, a real education is being given in the right direction. It is sometimes thought that any sort of a picture, even a cast off one,

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.] There has been some criticism of the fact that Senator Mason's speech in the last session of congress praising the purity of American champagne has been sent all over the country by enterprising wine manufacturers under Senator Mason's frank, thus securing the distribution of a valuable indorse ment without the payment of postage.

"So far as I am concerned," said Senstor Mason, the other day, "I have no apology to make. It is true that certain American grape growers and wine makers took the speech and printed it. just as a political party prints and circulates a political speech. They went to the public printer, paid him for printing the speech and for the envel opes, paid for having the addresses written and then mailed the speech as a public document. I have great confidence and respect," added Senator Mason laughingly, "for any gentleman who will circulate a speech that I de-

Blue and Gray.

In the senate friendships are not limited by party lines. Some of the strongest personal attachments exist between men of exactly opposite political views. Senator Bacon of Georgias who might be termed a hard shell Democrat, has many warm friends on the Republican side, while Senator Aldrich, one of the most prominent leaders among the Republicans, has very close personal relations with the older Democratic members. Senator Proctor, the rock ribbed Republican from Vermont, has a great attachment for Senator Mallory, an extreme southerner from Florida. Mr. Mallory served in the Confederate army and in the Confederate navy; Senator Proctor was a colonel and served on the staff of Major General "Baldy" Smith in the Union army. This makes no difference, however, and it is a very common thing for ex-Confederates and ex-Federals to be found in the house and senate the most intimate of friends. A Convention Building,

A bill to provide for the construction of a building for exhibition and assembly purposes in the District has been introduced in the senate by Mr. Mc-Millan, chairman of the senate committee on the District of Columbia, This bill is in response to an urgent of appeal that has frequently been made for a building in which exhibitions may be held and in which assemblies of a semipublic nature may be convened.

The bill introduced by Mr. McMillan provides for an appropriation of $3,000,-000 to carry it out. This amount is for the purchase of a site and the construction of a building suitable for conventions, exhibitions, assemblies and concerts. It is provided that this money is to be expended under the direction of the president of the United States. The bill was referred to the senate committee on public buildings and grounds. Damon and Pythias.

Speaking of friendship, Bard of California and Quarles of Wisconsin are the Damon and Pythias of the senate. Every morning they walk down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol and look so much alike that they might naturally be mistaken for brothers. Bard has slightly the advantage in height, but he cannot boast a mustache as handsome as Quarles possesses.

When they get together for a talk; Quarles is fond of relating his experiences during the civil war, for Bard never was a soldier, while Bard tells of his struggles in the early days of California, for he went to that state pearly forty years ago. Both men belong to the self made class. They have worked hard, Quarles in the practice of law and Bard in the railroad and mining businesses.

Curious Indian Names.

"The government pays money to Indians with the most curious names in the world," said a treasury official as he labored and the other day in counrants for small sums to Shawnee Indians. "These names I have here are beauties compared to the names of some of those farther west than the Shawnees, who are now wearing com-mon names, with few exceptions. One of these checks here is for the chief of the Shawnees, whose name is Johnson Blackfeather. The name is not so curlous, after all, but all through this list are such names as Bigknife, Bluejacket. Blackfish, Greyfeather, Whitedeer, Sourrel, ect. These are among the

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

Love's Sacrifice. "I shall have to give you up!" It was in the year 1955, and as he spoke the youthful scion of a once noble house buried his face in his hands and groaned aloud. "Yes," he said, "my darling, much as I love you, I cannot subject you to all the privations that a marriage in my present circumstances would entail on my wife. Three weeks age I was rich and prosperous, the head of a large syndicate that my father had bequeathed to me and on the most familiar and intimate terms with the emperor. Nothing, it seemed, stood in the way of my continued success. Suddenly, however, another syndicate loomed above me, and I was quickly overshadowed, and now, after having been obliged to sell out, I find that all

NEW SHORT STORIES

Stories of Sarah Jennings. Sarah Jennings, wife of the first Duke of Marlborough, is famous in bistory for many things, among them Strength for Overworked Women is being her violent temper. After her great husband's death Sarah spent the maining years of her life in quarreling with her daughters and marrying her granddaughters. One of the latter, the Duchess of Manchester, a special favorite of the old duchess, had a sharp tongue also. Her mother and grandmother had long been at variance. "My sweet duchess," said the elder woman to her one day in an overflow of kindness, "you were always the best of God's creatures, and I love you mightily, but you have a mother." "Yes, and she has a mother," came the quick reply. Sarah's revenge on Lady Bateman, who had offended her, is amusing. She possessed a portrait of Lady Bateman, which she made the means of her vengeauce. "She did not give it away." says Louisa Stuart, who tells the story, "nor sell it to a broker, nor send it up to a lumber garret, nor even turn it to the wall. She had the face blackened over and this sentence. 'She is much blacker within,' inscribed in large characters on the frame, and, thus placed in her usual sitting room, it was exhibited to all beholders."

Max Muller's Schooldays.

When Professor Max Muller as a boy of twelve was put to school in Leipsic, as he relates in his autobiography, he had an odd old teacher. Professor Muller says: "Before beginning his lesson he used to rub his spectacles and after looking round the half empty classroom mutter in a plaintive voice, 'I see again many boys who are not here today.' When the same old master began to lecture on physical science, he told the boys to bring a frog to be placed under a glass from which the air had been extracted by an air pump. Of course every one of the twenty boys brought two or three frogs, and when the experiment was .to be made all these frogs were hopping about the lecture room, and the whole army of boys were hopping after them over chairs and tables to catch them? No wonder that during this tumult the master did not succeed with his experiment, and when at last the glass bowl was lifted up and we hopped out and escaped from the hands of its would be executioner."

He Had a Watch.

An army officer back from the Philippines tells the following story of a callow young officer whose mistakes are a frequent source of amusement to his comrades: Early in his military expe rience the lieutenant was awakened

TT'S VERY KIND OF YOU TO TELL ME THE TIME.

one night by the sentry who passed by his tent calling out the hour and vouch safing the information, "All's well." The youth turned over and settled down to another nap, but the next hour was awakened again by the unwelcome call. When this had been repeated the third time, he decided to endure it no longer and, going to the door of his tent, called out, "Look here; it's very kind of you to tell me the time, but I have a watch here by my bed, so please spare yourself further trouble."

Telegraphic Abbreviation.

Abbreviations make up one of the most important elements in the career of the telegraph operator. Abbreviated dispatches are often sent in five minutes that would require half an hour's work if transmitted in full. But there is an operator in Pittsburg whose originality in inventing substitutes for good English surprises even his workmates. When the death of young James S. Ayres was first sent over the wires and tioned, one of the local operators received a query from the Pittsburg man, "What sort of a looking woman is Mrs. Boo?' The Washington operators thought steadily for a moment and ence. then sent back, "Who do you mean?" the phrase burst upon him, the local operator announced the abbreviation to his associates, and the name has been sent all over the country as "B-O-9"

Even With the Professor. Professor Syle, a member of the faculty of a western university, cannot tolerate snobbishness on the part of his scholars, and any such offense is Farms, Houses and Land for sale and sure to call forth some keen, sarcastic comment. CHOICE MISCELLANY

Walking In a Watch.

A promenade inside a watch that is all the while doing its ordinary duty of telling the time is a pleasure in store for visitors to the forthcoming St. Louis exhibition. It is even stated that a small restaurant, with waiters, cooks and the ordinary paraphernalia of such an institution, is to be located inside this monster timepiece. The watch is already in course of construction. Its dimensions, as quoted by the Chicago News, are, for a timepiece, enormous, the diameter being nearly seventy-five feet and the height more than forty feet.

Tiny staircases will be scattered throughout the watch, and there will be spacious galleries, where visitors may pass and repass with ease. The wheels will be so well protected that no one can suffer injury either to person or clothing.

The wheel known as the balance wheel will in this monster watch weigh a ton, while the so called hairspring will be considerably thicker than a rolling pin. Approximately two minutes will be consumed by the swings back and forth of the wheel above mentioned. This wheel will be pivoted on two huge agate blocks.

Needless to say, the main spring of this extraordinary watch will be enormous. Three hundred feet will hardly measure its length, and it is to be made of ten spring steel bands, two inches thick, bound together, as it would be impossible to roll so large a

When finished, the watch will lie on its back. It will possess a polished metal case similar to those used for OLD watches of ordinary dimensions.

Cleansing Our New Possessions, Marila, says the Manila Times, has Havana as a model to follow in the matter of public cleanliness. During the Spanish days Cuba contained as many vile pestholes as any city in Hindustan or other places in the orient, but now Cuba has been flushed and washed till it hardly resembles its former self. The New York Tribune says there has not been a case of yellow fever in Havana for several months. American experts in sanitation know how to use disinfectants and purifying Comfort and Norfolk, Va. chemicals, and above all they know how to use the water and how to scrub and how to sweeten. The air of Cuba is now sound and wholesome, thanks chiefly to the American passion for the best attainable conditions. The Queen of the Antilles has had a bath at last. Why not the Pearl of the Orient?

Illumination of Navigable Waters. A Canadian patent has been granted for a system designed to do away with paraphernalia for night navigation between Montreal and Quebec and to substitute a submerged electric system Easily reached by steam or electric cars; seven which between will apply to all in miles out from Boston. which, however, will apply to all inland navigable waters.. The main idea is to sink an electric cable in the center of the navigable channels, with power transmitted from a power house at Montreal and lines of colored lights at or above the water level each side of the channel, the lights on one side being of a different color from those on the other side and supported by cork floats.

The idea, if not exactly novel, is interesting and will provide a method of lighting obscure channels which should greatly simplify pilotage.

A Wenderful Daisy,

A daisy has been produced in Callfornia that is a floral wonder. Measur ing more than a foot in circumference and with three or more rows of petals of purest white, it is as yet merely a beautiful curiosity, but before long it is likely to find its way into general cultivation. The new daisy is very hardy, easily grown and an extremely free bloomer. It has been named the Shasta daisy, and the grower who originated it, Luther Burbank, says that it was obtained by crossing the common American field daisy with the Japanese and European kinds. The flowers when cut remain perfectly fresh and in good condition for two weeks or more. It is likely to become very popular for decorative purposes. - Boston Transcript.

A Hint to Strenuous Students. There was a wild scene at Budapest university a few days ago. Twenty students had been badly plucked owing, as they thought, to the unreasonable severity of the test. One of the twenty, whipping a revolver from his pocket, rushed up to the examiners' talble and, brandishing his weapon, yelled at the terrified professors: "You may thank your stars I've no cartridges! If I had, I would have put lead into you Profitable Clover.

A Missouri farmer is thus quoted in the Maryville (Mo.) Tribune: "I sowed ten acres of clover, using as seed one bushef, which cost me $6. I sold from that ten acres twenty tons of hay for $100-$5 a ton-and thirty-six and a half bushels of seed for $192. Then I sold the second crop of hay for $16. That made the receipts from my ten acres $308. The seed cost me $6, and I was at an expense of about $60, so my net profits off the ten acres of ground were $242, almost $25 an acre."

Oysters Don't Agree With Her. After numerous attempts to eat oys ters in different forms Mrs. E. T. Melville of Newport, Ill., has been obliged to declare total abstinence from the bivalves because of the peculiar and unusual effect they produce on her. Film and Glass Negatives. Every t she eats oysters her face swells rapidly, her lips become double their normal size, and her eyes narrow until they are practically closed."

The lecture proved one of rare excellence. carefully prepared, and in its composition gave a clear and intelligent idea of the subject, which to the more musical part of the audience and students, was a valuable source of information. Miss Rogers also proved a pianist of no small merit, as she illustrated the several peculiar characteristics of Russian composers with piano selections, pointing out in each instance and emphasizing clearly the points to be noted before rendering the same, which were given with firm touch and a true interpretation as well as execution. Mr. Denghausen had a remardably pleasing quality of voice, smooth and rich in tone, particularly in the middle register, which was mellow and full of expression. He showed good training in the handling of his voice, especially in one or two of the numerous selections given, which were difficult and trying to the voice. The several peculiar traits in the lives of the Russians as portrayed in the compositions, was the theme of the paper. Miss Rogers, in closing, said

The bowlers started in again this week after a rest through the holiday season and both leagues have done good work. The record of the Amateur League remained on Saturday last the same as we published for the preceding week, no games occuring, but the Mystic Valley League made up its first record sheet, which is as follows:—

	Games	Pinfall	Α
Charlestown club	18-	15,340	. 8

Towanda elub	18	14,043	-7
Newtowne club	18	14,168	7
Old Belfry club.		13,467	7

Among the high individual averages in this league we find Rankin with 180, Marden 175 Brooks 168, all of the Arlington team. The limit in the record is 166 and no member of the Old Belfry team has made this figure.

Wednesday evening the O. B. C. team came to Arlington and were beaten two out of three, in low scores, no one of the visitors reaching 500, while three A. B. C. bowlers were above that figure. The score:

Our High School.

The town has voted, and I believe wisely o build a new High school building. It is desired to make it comfortable and convenient a source of pride to our citizens and attractive to outsiders. But what of the scholarship and standing of the school? How does it compare of the paper. Miss Rogers, in closing, said that the departure from the accepted and usual form of writing had introduced a new idea, or suggestion, likely to become recognized and accepted as the modern and advanced thought. The modern and advanced thought are the formula institution with similar banquet which took place at the Parker House, Boston. At the meeting of the Shakespeare Club held Friday evening, Dec. 27, it was decided to secure Mr. Leland T. Powers for a recital, when he will give Monsteur Beaucaire.

bon, the lace being carried up over the blouse between each point. The tucked collar band is headed and edged with the lace, and the full tucked sleeves have deep tucked cuffs decorated with the ribbon threaded lace. This model is very pretty and more serviceable in darker silk trimmed with embroidery galon in pretty soft tones .-Philadelphia Ledger.

Sensible Sleeves In Vogue. A greater contrast between the sleeves of five years ago and those of today can scarcely be imagined. Then women wore regular arm balloons which if properly manipulated ought to have settled the flying machine problem once and for all, but finally they resolved themselves into more sensible proportions until one can now pretty nearly guess at the contour of the arm. The new sleeves, however, are anything except tight and plain from shoulder to wrist. At the elbow or somewhere below it they begin to full out. You may have a deep cuff turned back at the elbow and the sleeve then fitted from elbow to wrist. And the portion between wrist and elbow may be of a material quite distinct from the upper part, as lace or chiffon or embroidered satin. Or the cuff may turn back widely anywhere between the elbow and wrist.

A Smart Black Gown.

A notion that bears the impress of elegant motif is a soft black gown of cashmere l'inde, colienne crape or muslin cloth trimmed with coarse ocher colored lace, the lace carried in long lines from throat to feet and down the back of sleeves, slightly puffed at the wrist. Behind the lace is placed a lining of white taffeta. The best beloved lace in this deep tint is composed of a sort of drawn thread embroidery. There is a perfect rage for this on the continent, where entire gowns are created of it mounted over white taffeta slips. What supreme heights of daintiness cannot the needle attain nowadays? Truly it is a craft of most cunning capabilities, one that enables us to individualize, specialize and gener-
